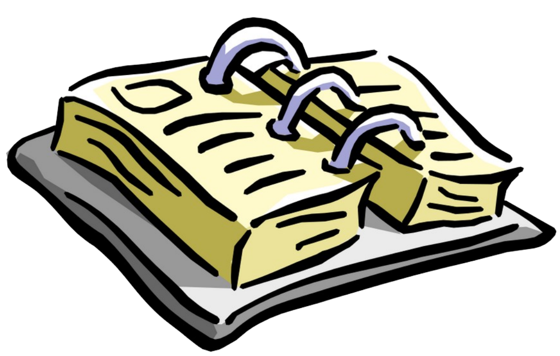
Module 2 Lesson 1



Personal and Biographical Information

Objectives Module 2
Lesson 1

At the end of this lesson, the students will be able to request personal and biographical information. Under this Terminal Learning Objective the students will be able to:

1. Exchange personal information. This task will include:
   - Ask and answer about someone's age
   - Ask and answer about marital status
   - Ask and answer about someone's residence
   - Provide personal information

2. Exchange biographical information. This task will include:
   - Request personal history
   - Extract biographical data
   - Report autobiographical data.

> Tip of the Day
> Thai small talk is generally more personal than its English equivalent. This expression of interest in the other person is an excellent icebreaker and smoothes the initial stage of friendship; at the same time it serves the valuable function of establishing relative status which is important for Thais to know in order to be able to behave appropriately in the future. Be prepared to accept that you will be asked personal questions that would be quite inappropriate back home. Don’t be surprised by questions about your age or salary. If you are married and do not have children, you may be asked why not- and more- which, it should be pointed out, is not necessarily entirely appropriate in Thailand. Sometimes people’s curiosity gets the better of them! Usually a smile and feigned misunderstanding will be sufficient to change the subject and, in any case, there is no real obligation to give truthful answers in such situations.

Personal information

Prapan is answering some questions to fill out forms at the military doctor’s office.

True or false?
1. Prapan joined the Special Forces in 1994.
2. He became Second Lieutenant in 1998.
3. He moved to Lopburi in 1979.
4. He got married in 1996.

5. His child was born in 1997.

Exercise 3 (Group Work)
The setting is that the student will meet their counterpart at a wedding. You have exchanged some personal information such as names and occupations. Your task is to determine the marital status of your counterpart. Reverse roles so that both partners have the opportunity to play both parts.

A: Ask your counterpart whether he/she is married.

B: Provides appropriate response using the correct form of politeness, vocabulary and structure. May provide either an affirmative or negative response.

Exercise 4 (Group Work)
The class will be divided in two teams of students. The teams will alternate turns requesting and responding to questions about how long the various team members have been in the military, at Fort Bragg, and when, if at all, they are planning to retire from the military.

Exercise 5 (Pair Work)
The setting is that you are interested in interviewing a prospective team member. You know their military qualifications, but want to know more about the individual as a person. You ask the individual his/her name, date of birth, address, and educational background. Your partner answers questions with his/her assumed identity. Reverse roles so that both have the opportunity to interview and be interviewed.

Exercise 6 (Group Work)
The class will be divided in two groups of students. Each group will be a ‘family’ and create a diagram that shows their family information (assign family relationships and ages). With each group alternating turns, they will select a member of their team to both elicit and provide information on the composition and ages of the other group’s family. The game will continue until all information has been collected. Good questions to ask, include:

(1) marital status.
(2) number of siblings.
(3) number of children.
(4) ages of his/her children.
(5) ages of his/her parents.

Exercise 7 (Pair Work)

The setting is that an SOF soldier who has a casual meeting with his Point of Contact (POC). The soldier is interested in living accommodations available in Thailand. Using the questions you have learned, see whether you can elicit that information from your “source”. Reverse roles afterwards, so that both partners can practice the procedure.

A: Use appropriate greetings, and then inquire where your POC lives.
B: Provide appropriate response using the correct level of politeness, vocabulary and structure.

Exercise 8 (Pair Work)

The setting is that an SOF soldier who meets his POC at a restaurant and they are still discussing living arrangements. Using the following guide, re-enact the following conversation. Reverse roles so that both partners can practice.

(1) A: Say hello. Say who you are.
B: Introduce yourself and say hello.
A: Ask where A lives.
B: Say where you live. Ask where A lives.
A: Say where you live.

(2) A: Invite B to your house.
B: Ask A where he/she lives.
A: Say you live in Pattaya.
B: Ask where Pattaya is located.
A: Say it is close to Bangkok.

Exercise 9 (Group Work)

Your instructor will introduce the following vocabulary to you.

watch	[illegible] ([illegible])
gift	[illegible]
alarm	[illegible]

necklace	[illegible]
bag	[illegible] / [illegible]
key chain	[illegible]
wallet	[illegible]

After you listen to your instructor's explanation, choose an appropriate gift for four relatives or friends. Explain why you chose each gift for each individual person (i.e., a necklace for a single female friend) then tell your classmates what you are going to buy for these individuals using the following structure:

> [illegible]
> I will buy an alarm clock for Suthee, because he likes to wake up late.

Exercise 10 (Pair Work)
For this exercise, each student will be working with a partner. One person is applying for a passport and the other is a government employee verifying the information on the application. The official should ask the following questions:

What is your name?
Are you married, single, or divorced?
How many children do you have?
What is your address?
When you are done, switch roles.

Exercise 11 (Pair Work)
The setting is an informal job interview. One student will assume the role of the interviewer. The other will act as the interviewee. The interviewer wants to put the candidate at ease as well as get to know him/her on a more personal level. He asks whether you have a family and if so, what their ages are. Reverse roles so that both partners have the opportunity to play both parts.

A: Asks whether B has family and if so, how old his/her parents are.
B: Provides appropriate response using the correct vocabulary and structures.

Exercise 12 (Group Work)
Interview the classmates in your group, ask each other personal information such as date of birth, marital status, wedding anniversaries, and number of children. Each group will decide whose birthday or wedding anniversary is next to be celebrated. The entire group will choose members whose anniversaries or birthdays are closest and have a small ten-minute celebration for them. Be sure to congratulate the people being celebrated. Also ask for the address of selected classmates in case you want to visit them or send them a gift.

Exercise 13 (Pair Work)
Each student has five minutes to create an assumed identity. Each student is to ascertain the age of his or her counterpart. After the appropriate greetings, a short interchange ensues. Reverse roles so that both partners have the opportunity to play both parts.

□□□□□□□ ‘since’

□□□□□□□ means from such and such a time or starting point, since. It is used to answer a question with □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ (since when?). It translates as ‘since when someone has been somewhere’ and it implies that the person is still in the place mentioned.

Example: □□□ □□□□ □□□ □□□□□□□□□ □□ □□□□□□□ □□□□□□□
You have been in Fort Bragg since wh en?

□□ □□□□ □□□ □□□□□□□□□ □□ □□□□□□ □□□ □□□□
I have been in Fort Bragg since 1993

□□□□□□□ also occurs frequently in other idiomatic expressions:

□□□□□□□□□□□□□	from then on (in the past)
□□□□□□□□□□□□	from now on
□□□□□□□□□□□□□	from then on (in the future)

Note that in the three expressions above we again have the conception of time coming up from the past and receding into the future.

□□□□□□□□□□□□ ‘How much longer’

Example: □□□ □□ □□□□ □□□□ □□□□□□□□□□ □□□□□□□□□□□□
He will be in Ft. Bragg how much longer?

□□□ □□□ □□
another two years

□□□□□□□□□□□□... □□□□□ If □□□□□□□□□□□□ is put at the beginning of a question, and it is used with □□□□□, the meaning will be different.

Example: □□□□□□□□□□□□ □□□ □□□□□ □□
how much longer he then come

(How long is it going to be until he gets here ?)

□□□ □□□ □□
another two years

Exercise 1 (Pair Work)
Ask your partner the following questions in Thai, he then answers your questions. Switch roles:

1. Since when has he been with the Special Forces?
   (Since 1997)
2. Since when has he been in Fort Bragg?
   (Since August)
3. How much longer will he be in California?
   (Three more months)
4. How much longer will it take to finish the work?
   (One more week)
5. How much longer will he be studying Thai?
   (Five more months)
6. How much longer will it take to be promoted to Corporal / Second Lieutenant?
   (Next year)
7. How long has he been in Lopburi?
   (Three years)

Asking about a person's birthday
Language forms in this lesson include questions with the expression □□□□□□□... "... were you born?. In the answers to these questions, the expression □□□□□□ or □□□□□□□□□ is omitted in accordance with a tendency in Thai grammar to omit information which is recoverable from the context.

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ When is your birthday?
□□□□□□ □□ □□□□□□□□□□ □.□. □□□□ The twelve of February, 1957.

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ What is the date of your birthday?
□□ □□□□□□□□□□ The twelve of February.

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ On what day were you born?
□□□□□□□□ Saturday.

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ In what month were you born?

□□□□□□□□□□□□ In May.

□□□□□□□□□□□□□ In what year were you born?

□□ □□□□ In 1964.

Names of the twelve cyclical years usually referred by Thais:

1.	[illegible]	Year of the Rat
2.	[illegible]	Year of the Ox
3.	[illegible]	Year of the Tiger
4.	[illegible]	Year of the Rabbit
5.	[illegible]	Year of the Dragon
6.	[illegible]	Year of the Snake
7.	[illegible]	Year of the Horse
8.	[illegible]	Year of the Goat
9.	[illegible]	Year of the Monkey
10.	[illegible]	Year of the Chicken

Asking about a person’s residence

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□	Where is your house?
□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□	In Bangkok.
□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□	In Surin.
□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□	What is your address?
□□□□□□ □□/□ □□□□□□□□□□ □□□.	No. 12/6 Rachavithee Rd., Bkk.
□□□□□□□□(□□□)□□□□□□□□□	What is your phone number?
□□□□□□□ □□□□□ □□□-□□□□	Home: 287-1036.
□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ □□□-□□□□	Office: 525-4174.

Future tense markers: □□ ‘will, shall, would, should’.

1. Normal pattern: □□ + verb phrase
2. If □□ is used together with other adverb-auxiliaries, in such cases, a fixed relative order is observed. Certain adverb-auxiliaries must follow □□, e.g.

□□□□□□	‘will have to’
□□□□□□□□□...	‘must not ..’
□□□□□	‘will not’

Most adverb-auxiliaries, however, must precede □□, which is then usually best rendered by the English infinitive marker ‘to’, e.g. □□□□□ ‘ought to’. Other such sequences are found under:

□□□□□□□□	to be about to
□□□□□□□	to be almost
□□□□	probably
□□□□□	should, ought to
□□□□□	to be close to
□□□□□□□□□	want to
□□□□□□□	to have just...
□□□□□	usually
□□□□□□	would like to
□□□□□	probably

Exercise 2
Translate the following sentences into Thai.

1. I was born on January 16, 1958.
2. I was born in the year of the Tiger.
3. What year is 1995?
4. Where were you born?
5. What do you do for a living?
6. I'm a soldier.
7. I work at the American Embassy.
8. What is your address?
9. My home phone number is 831-5270.
10. You must not tell him.
11. He will not come here.
12. You will have to do it.
13. He probably comes here.
14. I would like to eat now.
15. He usually comes here on Monday.

Tip of the Day

Besides using a phrase □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ (Are you married?) to find out if someone is married, you can also use □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□ □□□□□□□□□□□□ (Do you have a family?). It is considered more polite and appropriate to ask an unfamiliar person.

Personal Questions

Asking personal questions is common practice in Thailand. In most cases, the need to know about a person's private life is not motivated by simple curiosity. Rather, it is governed by the fact that people take personal interest in a family member's, relative's or friend's emotional as well as material well-being, and they go to great lengths to find out how they can best help. In addition, because an individual is inescapably linked to a family, it becomes important, sometimes, to know what he or she is doing since his or her actions might reflect on the whole community. Most people, therefore, ask personal questions so that they can give advice and remind the individual of his or her responsibilities.

Thais are very open with questions about their lives. They, sometimes, would gladly volunteer information in the hope of receiving counsel. People especially businessmen like to go to the fortune-tellers to have their future read and ask for advice. However, what kind of personal questions one should ask, to whom and under what circumstances, varies greatly from one society to another. In general, one should avoid questions related to sex. For most people, this is a taboo topic. Furthermore, personal questions are more appropriate for peers and younger people than for older persons.

Social Security Number

Note that in Thailand, there is no equivalent to the Social Security number one has in the United States. The ID card is the important document that one is frequently asked to present for identification purposes. Government officials and military personnel also have their own type of identification cards in addition to the regular kind.

Activity 1
The instructor will pose questions requesting personal information from the students. After answering, students will take turns asking their neighbors similar questions. The last student will question the instructor.

Activity 2
Take a survey. Start by counting the number of students in the classroom. Formulate a list of questions to cover in your survey, including: how many students are married, how many have children, how many have birthdays this month, etc. Share your findings with the class.

Activity 3
Each student will follow the instructor's lead in creating a fictional identity.
Start by providing the name of your assumed fictional identity, give an age and family relationship. For example: you could say, I am the father of Fred and I am 54 years old; or I am the son of Wanda and I am 7 years old; or I am Dan's grandfather and I am 75 years old. Your instructor will provide assistance and corrections as needed.

Activity 4
Each student should assume a Thai identity and pretend that they are at their high school reunion; walk around the room, greet your classmates as if they were your old high school buddies, and ask them questions. You will have ten minutes to prepare a list of questions to help you.

Activity 5

Listen to a conversation between two friends discussing their families. Then look at a written transcription of the conversation that is missing some of the words. Listen to the conversation once again and fill in the blanks with the missing words.

[illegible]: ______________ [illegible] ____________________

[illegible]: _______________ [illegible]

[illegible]: ____________ [illegible]

Activity 6

Listen to a dialogue in the previous activity again and answer the following questions in English.

1. Who is Somsri married to?
2. Where did she meet her husband?
3. Does she have any children?
4. How many children does Karnda have?
5. How old is Karnda's son?
6. How long has it been since these two people met?

Activity 7

Choose an identity from the following list of residents who live on Samsen Street but don't reveal it. Your partner will ask yes or no questions about your personal background and your family until all the clues add up and he or she can guess your name. (Note: You can ask anything but your partner's name!) Switch roles.

Activity 8

Read the following statements and then write true or false beside each of the statements below.

1. Candidate number five is suitable for candidate number one.
2. Candidate number four is suitable for candidate number six.
3. Candidate number three is suitable for candidate number six.
4. Candidate number four is suitable for candidate number two.
5. Candidate number two did not specify a certain age for her demand.
6. Candidate number six accepts divorced men or widowers.

3. [illegible]	4. [illegible] -[illegible]
5. [illegible]	6. [illegible]

Activity 9 (Pair Work)

Each student chooses one of the two identities listed below. Your instructor will give you information about the person you chose. Assume that this person is your brother or sister. Pretend that you all went to school together many years before. Ask your partner questions about their sibling and answer questions about your own siblings.

[illegible]: [illegible] [illegible]: [illegible] [illegible]: [illegible]	[illegible]: [illegible] [illegible]: [illegible]

Activity 10 (Pair/Group Work)
You are in charge of preparing a family reunion. Working with a classmate, collect information for a scrapbook. One will write about the mother’s side, another will write about the father’s side. Make up your family as a group using the vocabulary below:

□□□/□□□: great grandparents
□□□□□□/□□□□□□: great grandfather (father’s side)
□□□□□□/□□□□□□: great grandmother (father’s side)
□□□□□/□□□□□: great grandfather (mother’s side)
□□□□□□/□□□□□□: great grandmother (mother’s side)

Present your scrapbook to the class. Your classmates will take turns asking you questions about your fictional family.

Activity 11 (Pair/Group Work)
Working in pairs, one student will assume the role of a police officer, and the other assumes the role of a suspect. Prepare a set of questions to ask your suspect. For example: his full name, his place of living, his age, the place in which he lives, his current profession, his educational background, etc. Then switch roles.

Activity 12
You have just debriefed two foreign nationals and must report your findings to your superior. Write a report about these two people, create the identities yourself and provide the following information: Once your report is written, be prepared to give the information in an oral presentation to the class.

Name, age, place of residence, occupation, marital status, number of children.

Activity 13

The class is organizing a series of lectures about the Thai culture. Listen while your instructor reads the following resumes and fill in the blanks below with the missing information.

1. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] ___[illegible] ______

Activity 14

Your assignment is to guard a border crossing. You have been inspecting foreign passports for the past six hours, and are on the alert for bogus identification documents. An individual carrying the following identification approaches you. The individual does not completely match the information on the identification. You must interview this person, and decide whether or not to allow entry. Look for discrepancies or inconsistencies in the document; identify how the individual does not match the identification. Then, working with a partner, work out a role-play scenario where one of you is the individual seeking to cross the border and the other is the border guard. Switch roles, so that each one plays each character. Share your scenario with the class. The pair having the most elaborate and convincing dialogue gets first place for the activity. Refer to Module 1 Lesson 5 to refresh your vocabulary on personal characteristics.

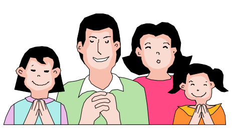
This is a picture of the □□□□□□□□ family. They are going to enter a witness protection program. The head of the family is Mr. □□□□□ (35) and his wife is □□□□□□ (30). They have a daughter □□□□□ who is 6 years old. Create a new personal history for each person that can be used to create the appropriate documents. Report to the class on their new identities.

This is a picture of the □□□□□□□□ family. They too will have to enter the program. The head of this family is Mr. □□□□□□ (48) and his wife is □□□□□□ (42). They have two daughters □□□□□□□ (15) and □□□□□□□□ (6). Create new identities for them, as well. Don't use the same information that you created for the □□□□□□□□ family. It would compromise their security. Report to the class on who they are now.



Activity 4 (Group Work)

The class will be divided into two groups of students. The setting is that your entire team is going to meet a Thai Special Forces unit for a joint exercise somewhere in Thailand. With the help of your instructor, prepare a self-introduction of yourself as a member of your team (use an assumed identity). Go to the front of the class and introduce yourself using the military blunt form. Mention your name, rank and function or position within your team. A member of the other team will take notes and then translate your introduction back into English. See how close the English version is to the assumed identity.

Activity 5 (Group Work)

The following text is an advertisement for a teaching position at a university in Songkhla and two resumes that contain autobiographical data of two candidates for the position. Read and compare the two resumes. Answer the following questions that will help you evaluate the candidates. Then discuss with your group which candidate best meets the requirements for the job:
